Message Reflections

November 3, 2019

Pastor and teacher John Stott said, "We should not ask, 'What is wrong with the world?' for that diagnosis has already been given. Rather, we should ask, 'What has happened to the salt and light?'" We, and the people we serve, are called by God to be salt and light in the world.

The 3 Circles: Life Conversation Guide is a great visual representation of the gospel. It's a memorable and easy way to explain how anyone can have a personal relationship with Christ.

The tool uses three simple circles that represent God's Design, Brokenness, and the Gospel -- which can be drawn on a napkin or piece of paper, at any time, to communicate the gospel. (Go to: www.lifeonmissionbook.com for more information and resources about the 3 Circles: Life Conversation Guide.)

Take a few minutes to review the three circles and read the Bible passages that correspond to each circle:

→ If someone were to ask you how to become a Christian, how would you explain it to them?

We have the responsibility to take the gospel to our neighbors, friends, coworkers, and to the world. I encourage you to take some time to equip yourself and be prayerfully prepared to share the gospel with someone.
