

Message Reflections

December 4, 2022

"Christmas is a delightful disruption of the way things normally go." - Dean Willimon

Jesus' birth demonstrates God's profound love for us which motivates us to worship Christ, proclaim Christ, and demonstrate Christ's love to those around us who don't know Him.

Read: Luke 2:8-20

Reflect:

- How do you think you would have reacted if millions of God's angels broke out into a Christmas chorus right before your eyes?
- Who brought you Jesus' good news? If possible, consider reaching out to thank that person.

What does it tell you about God and His priorities, that the announcement of the birth of Jesus was made to lowly shepherds rather than to the rich and powerful? God intentionally chooses the outcast to hear and share His good news. This is a great reminder of how God can use you to reach others.

- What keeps you from telling others about Jesus? Who is one person you could tell the good news of Jesus to this Christmas?

Let's be like the shepherds from that first Christmas night by sharing the Good News that Jesus, the Son of God, has come to save and give life. Hope is found in Him!
